

CONSENT FORM FOR SUBMISSION OF YOUR PHD DISSERTATION TO PURE

Background:

The Doctoral Regulations of the Erasmus University Rotterdam (EUR) stipulate that PhD candidates must provide a full digital copy of their thesis for the university online repository, Pure. Your thesis will be archived and made available online for future generations of scientists. This is an important part of the University's commitment to Open Access publication.

Submission:

It is important when submitting your thesis to Pure to carefully indicate whether your entire thesis may be published immediately. If not, please indicate which parts of your thesis may be published immediately and which parts should be published at a later date i.e. be placed temporarily under embargo.

The digital version of your doctoral thesis must meet the following conditions:

- It is completely identical to the printed thesis, e.g. title, number of chapters, content, pagination and layout. The digital file or files must contain:
 - the cover page;
 - any sections covered by an embargo;
 - any appendices or supplementary material.
- The files must be saved in PDF or PDF/A format. To facilitate further processing of the submitted files, they must be editable. Please do not submit password protected files.

Statement of Consent:

By signing this form, I, Wida Razawy, and my Supervisor, Dr. Erik Lubberts, grant permission to the Erasmus University of Rotterdam (The Netherlands) to store the electronic copy of my dissertation, 'The role of IL-23 and CCR6⁺ memory T helper cells in healthy and inflammatory arthritis conditions' in Pure, the University's digital scientific archive, and make it available online. The date of my Graduation is 05/07/2024.

A) The following dissertation or chapters in the thesis may be published in Pure.

THESIS OR CHAPTER TITLE	JOURNAL TITLE, YEAR OF PUBLICATION (when published in a journal)
Chapter 1: Introduction
Chapter 2: The role of IL-23 receptor signaling in inflammation-mediated erosive autoimmune arthritis and bone remodeling	European Journal of Immunology 2018. 48: 220-229
Chapter 3: IL-23 receptor deficiency results in lower bone mass via indirect regulation of bone formation	Scientific Reports, 2021 11: 10244
Chapter 5: Experimental arthritis mouse models driven by adaptive and/or innate inflammation	Methods in Molecular Biology . Inflammation Methods and Protocols. 2017;1559:391-410
Chapter 6: CD4 ⁺ CCR6 ⁺ T cells, but not $\gamma\delta$ T cells, are important for the IL-23R-dependent progression of antigen-induced inflammatory arthritis in mice	European Journal of Immunology. 2020 Feb;50(2):245-255
Chapter 7: Characterizing memory T helper cells in patients with psoriasis, subclinical, or early psoriatic arthritis using a machine learning algorithm	Arthritis Research and Therapy. 2022 Jan 19;24(1):28
Chapter 8: General Discussion
Chapter 9: Addendum (partly under embargo; see below)

B) The following thesis or chapters in the thesis should not be published in Pure at the date of defense.

EXEMPTED FROM PUBLICATION	CHAPTER TITLE	EMBARGO PERIOD
Chapter 4 (pages 70-85)	IL-23 has different effects on human memory Th17 and Th17.1 cells and reduces expression of osteoclast-related genes in classical monocyte-Th17 or -Th17.1 co-cultures	Until May 2026
Chapter 9: Dankwoord (pages 172-175)	Addendum	permanent
Chapter 9: Curriculum Vitae (page 176)	Addendum	permanent

Extra information Embargo / remarks:

I, Wida Razawy, hereby provide a second, electronic version of my dissertation, leaving out the chapters indicated above (table B).

I, Erik Lubberts, will inform Pure (registration.library@eur.nl) in a timely fashion when any of the chapters indicated above (table B) may be published in Pure (embargo status is lifted).

Additional Notes

- If you make use of the services of a printing company or desktop publishing company, then it might be possible, especially in the case you have made use of option B above, to ask them to prepare a complete PDF of your dissertation and, as an extra, a version with all chapters as separate PDF's.
- Please note that all your publications will be indexed by third parties without any concern for privacy. Therefore, if there are personal remarks, for example in the acknowledgements ("dankwoord") then place this part of your dissertation under permanent embargo. Please also consider the possibility of the invitation slip as part of the cover image containing names and cell phone numbers of paranymphs.
