The peer-review process of the European Heart Journal – Digital Health (EHJ-DH) would not have been possible without the voluntary efforts of our reviewers, who kindly devoted their precious time to this crucial part of science. The editors realize very well that it is not always easy, often even very difficult, to find the time for this. We would like to thank you all very much for that!

For us as editors, but certainly also for the authors, your reviews have been of great value. It has aided our decision-making, and it was very helpful to many authors to improve their submissions through your comments and pointers. It improved the scientific quality of many manuscripts and thus the journal considerably. Thanks in part to this effort, we received indexation in the Directory of Open Access Journals early last year already. This will help further growth and expansion of the journal besides the realization of our ambitions, which is among others to become the leading journal in cardiovascular Digital Health.

In the past year, 229 reviewers helped us in the evaluation of the manuscripts we received. A special thanks go to our 10 top reviewers, albeit 13 this year, with the top ranking by this year for Dr Robert van der Boon, who is now one of our deputy editors (Figure 1).

Below in alphabetical order the names of all our reviewers for the European Heart Journal – Digital Health over the past year. In case we would have forgotten someone by an unfortunate mistake, please accept our apology for this unintentional omission!

The opinions expressed in this article are not necessarily those of the Editors of the European Heart Journal – Digital Health or of the European Society of Cardiology.
